

TAXATION FIRST PROBLEM SAYS WHITE

NEW GOVERNOR WANTS SOLONS TO JOIN HANDS

White's First Message to Legislature Delivered at Noon Tuesday.

SKIPS DRY LAW

To Cut Cost of Administration If Possible.

BY BURL A. ELY.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 12.—Urging that their first consideration be that of taxation because "all other contemplated legislation is contingent upon it," Ohio's new governor, George White of Marietta, today called upon the state's solons in his first legislative message to join hands and perform their solemn duties without regard for party affiliations.

The governor's message was devoted solely to taxation and unemployment. The bulk of it concerned only taxation. In his reference to unemployment, Mr. White took occasion to attach at least some degree of blame for present conditions, which he described as "deplorable," upon the Republican party.

Governor White's definite recommendations to the legislature with regard to taxation were to place the "burden where the ability to pay exists."

WOULD APPROPRIATE

To alleviate distress where it is acute as a result of unemployment, Governor White recommended that the general assembly appropriate a reasonable sum—"the expenditure to be determined by proper safeguards." Such an appropriation, he suggested, should be limited to the year 1931 and be confined to the sole purpose of emergency relief.

The governor made no reference to prohibition, despite the fact that the issue is now laying like a bombshell waiting to explode in the legislative hoppers. Mr. White stated, however, that in a few days he would address the solons on various other legislative problems, "notably that of the department of public welfare," and it was expected that the prohibition question would come under the heading of "various other problems."

The taxation problem can hardly be expected to be solved entirely at one session of the general assembly, Mr. White said. He warned the legislators against the establishment of wrong principles "which might live to plague us and our successors."

To Speak Here

CLARENCE J. BROWN

Clarence J. Brown, secretary of state, will address the Kiwanis Club Monday, according to an announcement by Mayor B. T. Hedges.

Brown, a newspaper man, has made many friends since becoming secretary of state under the Cooper administration and again under the White administration.

The meeting will not be a closed one with any of the members permitted to bring as many guests as they wish. E. L. Crist, secretary, or Sterling Lamb, chairman of the house committee should be notified by any who wish to attend the meeting.

MOB LYNCHES NEGRO SLAYER

Sheriff May File Charges Against Leaders; Burned on School Roof.

MARYVILLE, Mo., Jan. 13.—Sheriff Haave England today promised that he would go before a grand jury and name the leaders of an infuriated mob which chained Raymond Gunn, negro, to the roof of a country school house here and burned him to death.

The mob seized Gunn from Sheriff England's automobile yesterday as he was transferring the negro from the county jail to the courthouse. Stoning and jeering the prisoner, the crowd marched him to the one-room frame schoolhouse where Velma Couter, 20 year old school teacher, was feloniously attacked and slain. The negro had previously confessed the crime.

Gunn was forced to watch while the mob saturated the white frame building with gasoline and then chained him to the roof and set it afire. Before he died Gunn was made to repeat his confession of the school teachers' murder.

That a grand jury investigation would result from the lynching was almost assured when Sheriff England said he was prepared to name the leaders. The officers said he recognized several among the mob who had promised him that the law would be allowed to run its course.

COMMISSIONERS ABANDON ROAD

Jefferson-Wastfall Emmett Road No. 45, beginning at the old Hitler-Deer Park to the Charles Lewis farm in Pickaway-town was abandoned at the regular meeting of the county commissioners Monday.

A petition to have the road down away with was filed with the commissioners sometime ago by a group of Pickaway-town residents headed by Edward S. Tucker.

The chief objection to the road was that it could not be kept up because of the flood waters of the Scioto river.

JURY HEARING WITNESSES IN FOWLER TRIAL

William Clevenger and Jim Jones Are Called to Stand Tuesday Morning.

JURY OBTAINED

Charge Is Robbery; Jones Already Sentenced.

Testimony of witnesses was being taken in common pleas court Tuesday afternoon in the case of the state against William "Fug" Fowler, this city, charged with robbery of $180 from William Clevenger, Amanda, a former resident of this city.

Clevenger was called as a state witness and told of a card party at the Fowler home. He said he left the place and was intercepted by Fowler and Jimmy Jones, Rossco, who has pleaded guilty and been sentenced to the reformatory. He said he was struck and when he looked around saw Fowler, recognizing him. He reported the robbery to the sheriff's office and Fowler and Jones were arrested.

Both were indicted and Fowler denied his guilt when arraigned although Jones pleaded guilty. He was called to the witness stand shortly before the jury was recessed for the noon hour by Judge Joseph W. Adkins, presiding in the case.

A jury was obtained at 10 a. m. with very little trouble, only one prospective juror being dismissed. The jury hearing the case is comprised of Lee T. Shaner, Floyd Mouser, J. M. Dountz, J. R. Duval, Charles E. Morris, William Cady, Carl Trump, Mrs. Marie Dunlap, Clarence Wolf, J. W. Costlow, Gabe Elliott and Homer Reber.

Several witnesses were to be called by the prosecution which is being conducted by Emmitt L. Crist, C. A. Leist represents the defendant.

VOTE MILLIONS FOR DRY FUND

House Approved 33 Per Cent Expansion of Federal Enforcement Corps.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Riding rough-shod over opposition in its ranks, the house appropriations committee today approved a 33 percent expansion of the federal dry enforcement regime by addition of 500 agents and 188 other employees.

The prohibition enforcement fund, embraced in the annual supply bill for the state, justice, commerce and labor departments, totaled $11,369,500 as compared to $9,000,000 last year.

Hearings made public in connection with the bill disclosed that both Attorney-General Mitchell and Prohibition Director Woodcock were subjected to grillings by Rep. Tinkham (R) of Massachusetts and other wet committee members.

Woodcock was forced to disclose details of a $250,000 fund for a purchase of liquor, food and similar expenses of agents seeking evidence and $160,500, chiefly for informers or "stool pigeons."

HOPE IS FORLORN FOR LOST FLYERS

HORTA, Azores, Jan. 13.—A forlorn possibility that the New York to Paris aviators, Mrs. Beryl Hart and William S. MacLaren, landed on a remote island on the Azores or overshoot their mark and continued eastward to the European coast was all the hope that remained today. Three days and three nights after they headed out over the tossing Atlantic from Bermuda in the Trade Wind.

They hopped off from Hamilton Saturday morning at 11:15 a. m. eastern standard time and were due in the Azores the next morning, but no sign has been seen of them since.

Members of the Model league entertained members of the chapter Monday with answers to all kinds of questions dealing with airplanes, air currents and what not. These boys are rapidly becoming real air-men and some of their answers astounded members of the chapter.

RICH FARMER TO BE TRIED

Charge Herbert Hornbeck Shot Two on Farm With Intent To Wound.

LONDON, O., Jan. 13.—Trial of Herbert Hornbeck, wealthy London farmer, on a charge of shooting to wound C. C. Meals, Springfield electrical engineer, and his son, William Meals, 19, a student at Ohio State University, will get under way in Madison-co common pleas court here tomorrow, prosecuting attorneys said today.

The trial climaxes a shooting affair on the Hornbeck farm last Nov. 29 when the wealthy farmer allegedly shot Meals in the thigh with a rifle and fired at young Meals when the two men, accompanied by a friend, wandered on to the Hornbeck farm while on a Thanksgiving hunting trip.

Hornbeck was indicted on two charges by the Madison-co grand jury last January. He appeared in court and entered a plea of not guilty. He was released on bond of $1,000 on each count.

GIRL, THOUGHT STOLEN, FOUND IN CAR ASLEEP

Romance of 13-Year-Old Child With Boy Friend Comes To Light.

SOCIETY SHOCKED

Kidnaping Plot Suspected When Heiress Is Lost.

BULLETIN

DENVER, Jan. 13.—A childish romance today threw Denver's exclusive social set into a furor and sent more than 100 detectives and policemen on a frenzied search for Alice Lucille Humphreys, beautiful 13-year old daughter of I. B. Humphreys millionaire oil man, who was believed to have been kidnaped from her palatial home during the night.

The child was found shortly after 8 o'clock asleep in an automobile in the garage at the home of Thomas Lawrence, whose son Jack, also 13, was the "boy friend" of Alice Lucille, she explained.

The Lawrence home is in Montclair, a Denver suburb, more than two miles from the Humphreys home.

Alice Lucille was only a little perturbed by her experience, and apparently suffered no ill effects from her night in the garage.

DENVER, COLO., Jan. 13.—Alice Lucille Humphreys, 13, daughter of A. E. Humphreys, millionaire oil man, was kidnaped from her Denver home early today, according to a report made to police by the child's parents.

All available police are placed at work on the case.

Mr. and Mrs. Humphreys returned home shortly after midnight from a party to find the child's bed empty.

The covers on the girl's bed were turned down and a note had been left on the bed. It read:

"I have been kidnaped. Do not call police."

The girl's grandmother, Mrs. A. E. Humphreys, widow of the late multimillionaire oil magnate, put Alice to bed at nine o'clock. Then, about eleven o'clock, according to the story she told police, she looked into the girl's room and is certain that Alice was safely in bed at that time.

When her disappearance was first discovered an effort was made to keep the matter secret fearing the child would be harmed by the kidnaping received publicity.

Chief of police R. F. Reed and Captain of Detectives A. T. Clark went to work immediately on the case, putting every available policeman on the force to work.

Police believe the child was kidnaped, and scores of detectives were engaged in an intensive search for her.

The child's mother, Mrs. Lucille Humphreys, told police the family had received a "kidnap threat" in the form of a note several weeks ago, but had not taken it seriously.

PERITONITIS TAKES CHILD

From Wichita, Kansas, Mrs. Rhonis flew to Florida to spend the Winter. She will shortly fly from there to New York to spend the Spring season.

MAY ARREST CAR DRIVER

Morgan Lost Control of Auto In Accident Proving Fatal To Two.

Possibility that Joseph Morgan, husband of Mrs. Catherine Morgan, who with Mrs. Seba Perdue, colored, was killed in an automobile accident south of this city Sunday at noon, will be prosecuted when he recovers from injuries he received in the accident, was expressed Tuesday by E. L. Crist, county prosecutor.

He was arrested by local deputies at his home in Chillicothe late Sunday afternoon but was placed in the custody of Dr. J. D. Blosser, who promised to be responsible for his appearance anytime he is needed here to face charges.

The accident is said to have happened when Morgan, driving the car belonging to Mrs. Perdue's husband, tried to pass another automobile on the curve at Scippo Park and when he was forced to pull back into the line of traffic by an on-coming car, lost control of the sedan and it shot from the road. The party was returning from Columbus where it is said Morgan had gone to straighten out some legal matters. He is alleged to have been arrested for bootlegging and that his car had been confiscated.

G. E. Baker of Columbus, the only eye-witness to the accident, said Morgan had gone to straight of almost 60 miles an hour when the car left the highway.

What charge will be placed against the man is not known.

She was born Oct. 9, 1874.

TABER, MASTER OF GRANGE, TO TALK AT MEET

Farm Bureau Fortunate to Obtain Nationally Known Farm Leader.

MEETING JAN. 30

Miss Price of State University To Talk Also.

The annual meeting of the Pickaway county Farm Bureau and the Pickaway Livestock Cooperative Association will be held Friday, Jan. 30 in the Methodist Church here at 10 a. m.

Through the uncertainties of the unorganized farmer has come a realization to the enterprising farm men and women of the need for organization. Pickaway-co. folks, some years ago created the farm bureau, and in a progressive march have journeyed through this realm of uncertainties until today the Farm Bureau is a reality and a potent factor in our agriculture. The Pickaway-co. Farm Bureau coordinates the cooperative marketing program in livestock, wool, cream and eggs, grains, insurance, gasoline and household farm loan and the production programs supervised in cooperation with the agricultural extension service.

REVIEW SERVICES

The annual meeting affords the membership an opportunity to review the advancement of the many farm bureau services, to discuss the policies of the organization, and to express the interest of the membership in the farm bureau's future plans.

The program committee has been fortunate in obtaining Master L. J. Taber of the National Grange, who throughout his life has contributed his best efforts in serving organized agriculture throughout the Grange and Farm Bureau as a speaker. Miss M. C. Price, head of the Home Economics Extension Service of Ohio State University, has been obtained to bring a message to farm bureau women. The Committee is working on arrangements for special features of music and entertainment.

FARMERS AIDED

There is not a farmer nor a farm family in Pickaway-co. who are so remote but that the Farm Bureau has rendered to them some phase of service. Doubtless there has been a greater need for the farm bureau, than that of today. At the same time, there has never been a more favorable setting for constructive cooperative effort than at the present.

The Federal Farm Board, a national government agency, designed to correlate and coordinate the many farmers' cooperatives into a unified agency, extends a challenge to sincere farmers, directors of cooperatives, managers of cooperatives and all agricultural leaders.

You will enjoy the annual meeting program: Put a red ring around, FRIDAY, JANUARY 30th and plan to attend this big farmers' assembly.

GRAIN COMPANY'S DIRECTORS MEET

The Board of Directors of Pickaway Grain Company, comprised of George C. Gerhard, John Fry, T. M. Glick, J. E. Stevenson and M. G. Steeley, have arranged for an annual meeting of the stock holders to be held Tuesday, Jan. 20 at the Farm Bureau Home here at 1:30 P. M.

In spite of the shortage in the grain and other hazards of the drought, the auditors report show that the company has just completed a most satisfactory year's business.

The program for the meeting has been arranged as follows: Roll Call and Reading of the Minutes by M. G. Steeley, secretary.

The Manager Report by L. G. Warner.

"Trends in Cooperative Elevator Administration" by B. A. Wallace, Rural Economic Dept. of Ohio State University.

Election of Directors: Adjournment.

All stock holders are invited to the Grain company are invited to attend this meeting, participate in the discussion and assist in the advancement of the program.

"I have been kidnaped. Do not call police."

It was signed "Alice."

The girl's grandmother, Mrs. A. E. Humphreys, widow of the late multimillionaire oil magnate, put Alice to bed at nine o'clock. Then, about eleven o'clock, according to the story she told police, she looked into the girl's room and is certain that Alice was safely in bed at that time.

When her disappearance was first discovered an effort was made to keep the matter secret fearing the child would be harmed of the kidnaping received publicity.

Chief of police R. F. Reed and Captain of Detectives A. T. Clark went to work immediately on the case, putting every available policeman on the force to work.

Police believe the child was kidnaped, and scores of detectives were engaged in an intensive search for her.

The child's mother, Mrs. Lucille Humphreys, told police the family had received a "kidnap threat" in the form of a note several weeks ago, but had not taken it seriously.

Uses Plane to Keep Social Engagements

The rush of twentieth century social activities has led this New York society aviatrix, Mrs. Aline Rhonis, to purchase a speedy biplane that is capable of a speed of 160 miles or more an hour. From Wichita, Kansas, Mrs. Rhonis flew to Florida to spend the winter. She will shortly fly from there to New York to spend the Spring season.

MAY ARREST CAR DRIVER

Morgan Lost Control of Auto In Accident Proving Fatal To Two.

Possibility that Joseph Morgan, husband of Mrs. Catherine Morgan, who with Mrs. Seba Perdue, colored, was killed in an automobile accident south of this city Sunday at noon, will be prosecuted when he recovers from injuries he received Tuesday by E. L. Crist, county prosecutor. He was arrested by local deputies at his home in Chillicothe late Sunday afternoon but was placed in the custody of Dr. J. D. Blosser, who promised to be responsible for his appearance anytime he is needed here to face charges.

The accident is said to have happened when Morgan, driving the car belonging to Mrs. Perdue's husband, tried to pass another automobile on the curve at Scippo Park and when he was forced to pull back into the line of traffic by an on-coming car, lost control of the sedan and it shot from the road. The party was returning from Columbus where it is said Morgan had gone to straighten out some legal matters. He is alleged to have been arrested for bootlegging and that his car had been confiscated.

G. E. Baker of Columbus, the only eye-witness to the accident, said Morgan had gone to straighten out almost 60 miles an hour when the car left the highway.

What charge will be placed against the man is not known.

FORMER LOCAL MAN IS TAKEN

Mr. Smithhisler and his family were very well known in this city leaving here about five years ago. While here Mr. Smithhisler operated a shoe store at the location now occupied by the Economy store in E. Main-st.

Rites will be held in St. Aloysius church in Columbus with burial in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Edna Smithhisler; a daughter, Margaret Ann; a son Howard R., three sisters, Mrs. R. E. Campbell, Mrs. H. J. Wilkinson and Miss Helen Smithhisler and one brother, Harold Smithhisler.

TARLTON WOMAN TAKEN MONDAY

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Tarlton Methodist church for Mrs. Clara McDonald, aged 56, wife of Howard McDonald, who died Monday. The services will be conducted by Rev. Woodward, a former pastor of the church. Burial will be in Tarlton cemetery. She was born Oct. 9, 1874.

TABER, MASTER OF GRANGE, TO TALK AT MEET

Farm Bureau Fortunate to Obtain Nationally Known Farm Leader.

MEETING JAN. 30

Miss Price of State University To Talk Also.

The annual meeting of the Pickaway county Farm Bureau and the Pickaway Livestock Cooperative Association will be held Friday, Jan. 30 in the Methodist Church here at 10 a. m.

Through the uncertainties of the unorganized farmer has come a realization to the enterprising farm men and women of the need for organization. Pickaway-co. folks, some years ago created the farm bureau, and in a progressive march have journeyed through this realm of uncertainties until today the Farm Bureau is a reality and a potent factor in our agriculture. The Pickaway-co. Farm Bureau coordinates the cooperative marketing program in livestock, wool, cream and eggs, grain, insurance, gasoline and kerosene farm loan and the production programs supervised in cooperation with the agricultural extension service.

REVIEW SERVICES

The annual meeting affords the membership an opportunity to review the advancement of the many farm bureau services, to discuss the policies of the organization and to express the interest of the membership in the formulation of future plans.

The program committee has been fortunate in obtaining Master L. J. Taber of the National Grange, who throughout his life has contributed his best efforts in serving organized agriculture throughout the Grange and Farm Bureau as a speaker. Miss Minnie C. Price, head of the Home Economics Extension Service of Ohio State University, has been obtained to bring a message to farm bureau women. The Committee is working on arrangements for special features of music and entertainment.

FARMERS AIDED

There is not a farmer nor a farm family in Pickaway-co. who are so remote but that the Farm Bureau has rendered to them some phase of service. Doubtless there has been a greater need for the farm bureau, than that of today. At the same time, there has never been a more favorable setting for constructive cooperative effect than at the present.

The Federal Farm Board, a national government agency, designed to correlate and coordinate the many farmers' cooperatives into a unified agency, extends a challenge to sincere farmers, directors of cooperatives, managers of cooperatives and all agricultural leaders.

You will enjoy the annual meeting program; Put a red ring around, FRIDAY, JANUARY 30th and plan to attend this big farmers' assembly.

GRAIN COMPANY'S DIRECTORS MEET

The Board of Directors of Pickaway Grain Company, comprised of George C. Gerhard, John Fry, T. M. Glick, J. E. Stevenson and M. G. Steeley, have arranged for an annual meeting of the stock holders, to be held Tuesday, Jan. 20 at the Farm Bureau Home here at 1:30 P. M.

In spite of the shortage in the grain and other hazards of the drought, the auditors report show that the company has just completed a most satisfactory years business.

The program for the meeting has been arranged as follows: Roll Call and Reading of the Minutes by M. G. Steeley, secretary.

The Manager Report by L. G. Warner.

Trends in Cooperative Elevator Administration "by B. A. Wallace, Rural Economic Dept. of Ohio State University.

Election of Directors; Adjournment.

All stock holders and patrons of the Grain company are invited to attend this meeting, participate in the discussion and assist with the advancement of the program.

POWER CLASH IS FURNISHING PRELUDE TO 1932 CAMPAIGN

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES.
WASHINGTON. — President Hoover's dramatic clash with the Senate over the new federal power commission is regarded by the thoughtful politicians in Washington as furnishing a prelude to the presidential campaign of 1932, which, in a broad sense, is not far away.

Ask any politician of either party, in Washington today what the prime issues of that campaign will be and the answer invariably will be: "Prohibition and power." The order is sometimes reversed, but the answer is always the same.

The issue springs from the grass-roots. For there is scarcely a state but which has the question of power development and control before it in one way or another. There are, on the one hand, those who believe the vast natural and undeveloped power resources of the country should be owned and developed by state and federal agencies. As opposed to this school of thought, there is that which favors private ownership and control under public regulation. To this latter school, the very thought of public ownership and control is anathema.

President Hoover's political opponents, both in his own party and in the Democratic party, have sought to picture him as the friend and supporter of the so-called "power trust." The action of his newly appointed power commissioners in summarily "firing" two men who had consistently fought this so-called trust merely furnished the peg upon which to hang these charges.

More will be heard of this during the next year. It is likely that before another three months President Hoover will have an opportunity to either approve or veto the Norris bill, which will throw further light on the issue that many politicians consider is looming more and more important for 1932.

Like prohibition, the power issue divides both parties—and with almost equal intensity of feeling.

Western Republicans, as represented by the Progressive-Insurgents in Congress, are almost unanimous in their support of public power development and their antagonism to the so-called power trust. Eastern Republicans are preponderantly against public development.

Already there is appearing a distinct division in the Democratic party on the power issue.

There is a group of powerful Democratic leaders, mostly eastern, who favor the nomination of Owen D. Young in 1932. Young is chairman of the board of the Radio Corporation of America and a figure to be reckoned with in the world of finance and utilities. Friends of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, are already up in arms over the movement in behalf of Young. Roosevelt has clashed spectacularly with the power interests of New York state, and is generally regarded as a champion of the anti-power trust forces.

SALTCREEK-TWP LAD IS PROMOTED

Mrs. Orie Heath of S. Washington-st., has received word that her son, Ralph E. Heath, has been promoted in the organization of the J. J. Newberry Co. He has been with the company for less than two years and last Friday was called into the New York offices and assigned the management of the Jasper, Ind., store with an increase in salary and a 10 percent bonus from the profits of the business at the end of the year.

He graduated from the Saltcreek-twp school with the class of 1928 and is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hess, S. Washington st., this city, with whom he made his home. He left New York at once for his new position.

GANG'S GUN AGAIN BOOM

CHICAGO—James Belcastro, the fourth victim in as many days to fall before gang guns, hovered close to death today as police sought the identities of two assailants who emptied their revolvers into his body.

Belcastro, one of the 26 public enemies named by the Chicago crime commission and known to police as a Capone gangster, fell with six bullet wounds last night as he was about to step into his automobile.

The two gunmen were waiting for their victim when he stepped from the home of his brother-in-law, Rocco Fanelli. Fanelli likewise is a public enemy. The men opened fire as Belcastro was about to step into his automobile. Witnesses saw the gunmen flee on foot.

Even though surgeons at Bridge-well Hospital told Belcastro he would not live he refused to name his assailants to police. Police were convinced that the gunmen had been lying in wait for their victim.

Belcastro was known to police as the "bombling king". He had been indicted for one bomb outrage, but managed to wriggle free of the law.

FOUR WOMEN ARE KILLED

Although roads and streets were generally slippery and in some places were covered with ice following a drizzling rain the week-end traffic toll subsided somewhat, a state-wide survey conducted by International News Service shows.

Six persons, including four women, met death in four automobile crashes, all of them occurring in the southern part of the state.

Mrs. Anna Vedder, 55, and her daughter, Margaret, 31, were drowned when they were plumed beneath their automobile when it careened from the highway and overturned in the ditch near Mt. Healthy. The ditch was filled with water and both were dead when taken from the wreckage by Henry Vedder, the father and husband, and Clifford Schroeder, 31, the other occupants of the car who escaped unhurt.

Mrs. George Morgan and Mrs. John Purdie, negroes, both of Chillicothe, were killed almost instantly when their auto overturned near Circleville after skidding into the ditch. Mrs. Morgan's husband, driver of the car, was slightly injured.

Robert Thurman, 40, of Sinking Springs, Adams-co., lost his balance while he was leaning out of his truck to see if it was on fire and fell beneath the wheels of the large vehicle. The rear wheels of the truck ran over his body, killing him instantly.

John C. Lentz, 52, of Columbus, died Monday several hours after he was dragged the length of a city block by an automobile. Scott Vessels, 48, driver of the car which struck Lentz, was held by police for questioning.

LIQUOR SQUADS TO BE REDUCED

CANTON, O.—Abandonment of the city's vice and liquor squads in order to add more men to the under-manned police patrol department will be proposed by Councilman James Secombe at a meeting of city council here tonight.

Secombe, a dry advocate, declares that the seven policemen now serving on the vice and liquor squads could "better serve the interests of the public if their efforts are placed toward saving lives and property."

"This does not necessarily mean a lessening of liquor law enforcement," the council member said. "Each patrolman would be personally responsible for conditions on his beat and, in case of necessity, a raiding squad could be formed."

HANGING CAUSES INDIAN DISORDER

LONDON, Jan. 12—Enraged at the hanging of four Indian nationalists found guilty of taking part in disorders recently at Sholapur, rioters in Bombay today forced a number of policemen sent to quell the disturbance to remove their helmets as a "mark of respect for the hanged men," reports to the evening newspapers stated.

The police commissioner's automobile was stoned, and boulders were placed on the street car tracks.

MAGISTRATE MAY RESIGN

NEW YORK—Tammany leaders in the Bronx are urging magistrate Jesse Silberman, the latest to be under fire in the Kresel-Seabury inquiry, to turn in his resignation, it was reported today.

Another unconfirmed report was that the leaders had held a meeting last night and had decided that, regardless of whether Silberman is being attacked justly or unjustly, his resignation would tend to eliminate further accusations in his case.

Meanwhile, Referee Samuel Seabury was to ask today for blanket writ of habeas corpus to effect the release of 51 wayward minors illegally committed to Bedford reformatory. His request was to be made following a conference with attaches of the attorney-general's office.

Although Silberman's resignation is generally expected as the result of his grilling at the public hearing yesterday, it was pointed out that he had defied the investigators and, if the matter were left entirely in his hands, might elect to fight it out, as has Magistrate Louis B. Brodsky.

In the wicked old days you could be a good host without knowing anything about first aid measures.

Quick Relief for Coughing Spells

Famous Prescription Stops Them Almost Instantly

The amazing success of this prescription called Thoxine is due to its quick double action; it immediately soothes the irritation and goes direct to the internal cause not reached by ordinary medicines. The very first swallow usually stops even the most obstinate cough.

Thoxine is pleasant tasting and safe for the whole family. Your money will be refunded if it does not give better and quicker relief for coughs or sore throats than anything you have ever tried. Put ready for use in 35c, 60c and $1.00 bottles. Sold by Hamilton & Ryan Drug Co., and all other good drug stores.—Adv.

CLEVELAND MAN AIR RACE HEAD

CLEVELAND—Clifford Gildersleeve, 38, secretary and general manager of the United States Airlines, Cleveland, has been appointed executive vice president of the National Air Races, Incorporated, it was announced here today by W. L. Greve, president.

As executive vice president of the organization, Gildersleeve will be in charge of staging the national air races which have been awarded to Cleveland for five years, starting this year, with an option for an additional five years.

Gildersleeve will assume active supervision of the preparations for the 1931 air carnival Thursday when his resignation with the United States air lines becomes effective. He formerly was first assistant secretary of the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce.

TEST SHOWS VALUE OF GOOD PASTURES

Permanent pastures may be made a rich source of valuable protein if a few simple practices are followed, according to soil-extension specialists at the Ohio State University.

The average pasture, they point out, returns from 60 to 100 pounds of beef per acre. This at ten cents a pound equals $6 to $10 per acre, less, taxes, fences, miscellaneous cost, and cost of wintering. Under such conditions the permanent pasture does little more than meet expenses.

However, tests in Ohio, Wisconsin, Vermont, and New Jersey, all show that with a small investment in improving pastures they may be made one of the most profitable pieces of land on the farm.

In an Ohio test, 780 pounds of protein were produced on one acre of improved pasture, which is equivalent to $78 worth of dairy feed calculated on the basis of 24 per cent dairy feed at $48 per ton. In Wisconsin 749 pounds of protein valued at $74.90 per acre were produced in a series during Farmer's Week, February 2 to 6, at the university, the specialists state, and the results of scores of fertilizer trails on permanent pastures will be presented in addition to discussions on pasture improvement under Ohio conditions.

Some of the other talks scheduled by the soils department at the state institution for this first week in February deal with the kinds of fertilizers to use for various crops, ways of applying fertilizers for the largest possible returns, the new trends in fertilizers, fertilizers versus legume nitrogen in general farming, fertilizer nitrogen for corn and wheat, fertilizing clover, and other fertilizer problems.

Speakers for the soils program during this farm classic to be held at the State university on February 2 to 6, include: C. E. Miller, department of soils, Michigan State College; W. H. Ross, bureau of soils and chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture; Robert M. Salter, chairman of the department of soils Ohio State University; C. G. Williams director of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station; and E. P. Reed, Earl Jones, and D. R. Dodd, extension specialists in soils and crops at the Ohio State University.

The advice of your physician is: Keep out of doors, in the open air, breathe deeply, take plenty of exercise in the mellow sunshine, and have a periodic check-up on the health of your body.

Federal Glass Outfit To Again Meet C. A. C.

CLUB TOSSERS AFTER REVENGE FOR 37-24 DEFEAT SUFFERED IN NEW YEAR'S CONTEST HERE

Koterba, Morgan, Pettibone, Van Heyde, Kossman, Kraft, Barach and McNash to Again Make Up Columbus Roster; C. A. C. Promises Much Different Game Than Played New Year's; High School Girls to Meet Co-eds In Big Preliminary.

The team that handed the Circleville Athletic Club outfit a decisive and humiliating defeat New Year's night on the local court, the Columbus Federal Glass team, will again invade the local balliwick Thursday evening, according to an announcement made Tuesday.

The score 37-24, New Year's night, was humiliating if there ever was a game that way and C. A. C. players are of the opinion that the Federal team is not as good as that score indicates. Different things went to bring about the defeat and club players are ready to regain much lost prestige.

The Federal Glass team of Morgan and Chuck Koterba, forwards; Chaud Pettibone at center and Kossman and McNash at guards, was entirely too fast for the C. A. C. tossers in this holiday encounter and again they will present a mighty tough front.

DARTMOUTH, YALE LEAD EAST TEAMS

HANOVER, N. H., Jan. 13.—Dartmouth is today perched on top of the eastern intercollegiate basketball league alongside of Yale.

By virtue of a 29 to 27 victory at the expense of the Yale cagers last night, Dartmouth moved up into a tie with the Elms with two victories and one setback.

Columbia is now runnerup to the pair.

Yale lost the game in the last minutes of play when Picken put over the winning goal.

CANZONERI MAY BATTLE IN RIO

Buenos Aires, Jan. 13.—Negotiations for a lightweight title battle here between Tony Canzoneri of New York and Justo Suarez of Buenos Aires may be started shortly, it was learned today.

According to information, Martin Alzaga Unzué, wealthy Argentine sportsman, sailed for New York yesterday with the express purpose of arranging and financing the proposed bout.

It was stated in local circles that Unzué was prepared to guarantee Canzoneri $40,000 and all expenses if he agreed to come to Buenos Aires for a fight with the Argentine champion.

Wrestling May Take Place Of Boxing in New York

By Copeland C. Burg

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—A man writhed in death like pain on the floor, he twisted his limbs and beat his hands on his head, rolling and groaning as the sweat of tortured muscles bathed him. A huge beam of light beat down on his face, revealing pain-wracked eyes, twitching above a froth of frenzy over his lips.

A physician rushed to his side. The man threw his arms around the doctor's feet, bit at the medic's shoes then heaving a sigh like the passing of a great soul, collapsed utterly.

And did the crowd yell! How they cheered and beat each other's backs with hearty clouts. Hats went skimming about.

The stage? Tut, tut! Grand opera? Ha, Ha!

Just New York's latest sporting craze—the rassing game.

The man who writhed so beautifully was Gino Baribaldi and it all happened last night at a prosaic enough armory up on 34th street. Gino had just been knocked out with a flying tackle or two from the robust shoulders of Jim

McMillen, former University of Illinois football player.

And was it good acting? Well, one man said it was and the loyal fans threw him out under the third avenue "EL." Anyway, Gino had a perfect right to indulge himself a little with a few tears and a couple of ravings for he had lost a chance to meet Jim Landos, world's champion wrestler—at least in New York and Pennsylvania. In two weeks McMillen, big boy from Gray's Lake, Ill., gets that shot.

Landos and Jack Curley, the promoter, will get the dough. And there will be plenty of dough, too. The last time the rasslers rocked the boards at Madison Square Garden they had to call out the police and fire departments to handle the mobs. About 20,000 squeezed in.

Wrestling has taken such a grip on New York it promises to eventually surpass boxing as a drawing sport. Already it has the fight promoters groaning for mercy and a lot of young men who might make good pugilists are trying to learn how to wrestle.

BIG TEN RACE BECOMES HOT

Three Teams Tied For First; Ohio State Loses Battle To Indiana.

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Three western conference basketball teams, Northwestern, Chicago and Minnesota, maintained unbeaten records in the big ten race today following four closely-fought games last night.

Four aggregations, including Illinois, Purdue, Wisconsin and Ohio State, were spilled in last night's battles.

Michigan defeated Wisconsin, 23 to 17, at Ann Arbor to gain a place in the first division of the big ten standing. The Wolverines took the lead at the out set and kept it throughout the game.

Iowa was responsible for the biggest upset of the evening when the Hawkeye team defeated the championship—defending Purdue five by a 25 to 23 margin. Purdue staged a rally in the closing minutes of the game which brought Iowa's ten point lead down to a single basket. The game was played at Iowa City, Ia.

Northwestern kept its record unmarked by whipping the Illinois five, 29 to 27, at Champaign, Ill. The second half rally of the Illini team brought the half time score of 19 to 4 up within one basket of a tie in the closing minutes, but Northwestern was able to stave off the attack and maintain a two point lead at the final gun.

Indiana hit its stride in the closing minutes of its second conference game at Bloomington, Ind., and defeated the Ohio State five by a 23 to 21 score. Until the last three minutes of play it appeared as though Ohio State would take its second victory of the conference season, but a shift in lineup revived the Hoosiers.

CARNERA BACK IN U. S. TODAY

Man-Mountain Arrives at Logical Time; May Take Part In Squabble.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Primo Carnera, the well known man mountain, who is scheduled to show his enormous dogs on the shores of these United States today, is returning at a psychological moment.

They do say that Willie Stribling, scheduled to sign today for his titular bout with Max Schmeling under the joint auspices of the Milk Fund and Madison Square Garden, will be asked by the garden to take on Primo three months after the fight, if he beats the German.

It is also said that the Georgia heavyweight, under the terms of the contract proffered him by the garden, must remain under the wing of the organization for two years if he wins the title, and will receive only 12 1-2 percent of the gate for his first fight as champion, if ever.

Late yesterday Bill Duffy, Carnera's America representative, conferred secretly with Pa Stribling, representatives of the Milk Fund and Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager. Stribling's failure to sign led to reports that he had balked at the garden's terms, but the consensus of opinion was that Paw was merely playing poker and would go through with the formality of signing today.

there cannot be peace and order," he said.

"I am opposed to the substitution of income or sales taxes or any other subterfuge to keep the brunt of the tax problem on the backs of the farm and home owners, the wage and average salary earners, until an earnest and honest effort has been made to secure the necessary revenues from other sources.

"The time has come," he continued, "when wealth and capital in all their forms dare not be permitted longer to escape their full share of taxation.

"In view of the new rate limitation on real estate, there remains only one available source from which these necessary revenues (taxes) may be maintained, namely, capital.

The outlook ahead, considering present conditions, the governor said, is a gloomy era or "unprecedented, enforced public economy," pending such time as whatever new taxation system is evolved can be gotten to work smoothly.

Governor White took the occasion to pledge himself to a program to reduce the cost of administration to a minimum "consistent with good public policy."

URGE IMMEDIATE

In urging immediate consideration of taxation, Mr. White pointed out that the problem is statewide, affecting municipalities, counties, townships, "all of which face the most serious straits."

There are three immediate and imperative reasons for tax reform in Ohio, Governor White said. They are: "First, the mandate of the classification amendment; second, the reduced tax-paying ability occasioned by the economic depression and unemployment; and third, the anticipated decrease in the real estate duplicate."

In recommending appropriations for unemployment emergency relief, Governor White declared that the industrial situation in Ohio is perhaps "at a lower ebb, on the average, than at any time in the past 50 years."

"It is not my purpose at this time to discuss the causes of this deplorable condition, which is inherited by the new administration," the governor said. "In common with all other states of the Union, Ohio is affected in a degree by world-wide economic conditions.

"It is my belief, also, that the economic principles adhered to by the leaders of the Republican party for many years through the operation of extortionate tariffs and special privileges extended to large groups of rich or monopolistic combinations of capital, have had the inevitable result of wealth in America becoming too unevenly and unfairly distributed."

At the very outset of his address, Governor White urged the legislators to perform their solemn duties "not in a mere perfunctory manner, but diligently and aggressively, without regard to the amount of labor involved, and particularly without regard to the circumstance that your body has a majority of one political faith while the governor is of opposite party affiliation."

"There must be neither vain-glory nor seeking for personal party advantage," he declared.

We know a seed house that proves each season's crop of seed in their own trial gardens before they offer them to the public. Flowers and vegetables grown from these seeds must measure up to definite standards, or else the entire crops from which the samples were taken are burned.

We know a manufacturer of dry batteries who tested a new product two years before he sold a single battery to a single dealer.

We know a manufacturer of an anti-freeze solution for automobile radiators who spent two years testing his product under all conditions before he said a word in advertising about the merits of his goods.

We know a manufacturer of household pharmaceutical products whose self-imposed standard of purity and efficacy is even higher than that laid down by the United States Pharmacopoeia and the National Formulary.

If we mentioned their names you would recognize them immediately. You probably would say, "I plant those seeds," "I use that battery," "I use that anti-freeze," "My medicine cabinet contains those products."

The four instances cited are typical of every reliable manufacturer in America. Millions of dollars are spent annually to develop, to improve, to standardize, and to take the guesswork out of merchandise. Other millions of dollars are spent in advertising to tell you about them.

All of which is to say that in putting your trust in advertised merchandise you save yourself the bother, the expense, the disappointment—yes the danger—of experimenting and discovering for yourself which make of soap, breakfast food, radio tubes, lingerie, gasoline, tea, electrical device, stationery—or what-not—Gives you the most service for your money.

Koterba, Morgan, Pettibone, Van Heyde, Kossman, Kraft, Barach and McNash to Again Make Up Columbus Roster; C. A. C. Promises Much Different Game Than Played New Year's; High School Girls to Meet Co-eds in Big Preliminary.

The team that handed the Circleville Athletic Club outfit a decisive and humiliating defeat New Year's night on the local court, the Columbus Federal Glass team, will again invade the local balliwick Thursday evening, according to an announcement made Tuesday.

The score 37-24, New Year's night, was humiliating if there ever was a game that way and C. A. C. players are of the opinion that the Federal team is not as good as that score indicates. Different things went to bring about the defeat and club players are ready to regain much lost prestige.

The Federal Glass team of Morgan and Chuck Koterba, forwards, Chaud Pettibone at center and Kossman and McNash at guards, was entirely too fast for the C. A. C. tossers in this holiday encounter and again they will present a mighty tough front.

DARTMOUTH, YALE LEAD EAST TEAMS

HANOVER, N. H., Jan. 13.—Dartmouth is today perched on top of the eastern intercollegiate basketball league alongside of Yale.

By virtue of a 29 to 27 victory at the expense of the Yale cagers last night, Dartmouth moved up into a tie with the Elms with two victories and one setback.

Columbia is now runner up to the pair.

Yale lost the game in the last minutes of play when Picken put over the winning goal.

CANZONERI MAY BATTLE IN RIO

Buenos Aires, Jan. 13.—Negotiations for a lightweight title battle here between Tony Canzoneri of New York and Justo Suarez of Buenos Aires may be started shortly, it was learned today.

According to information, Martin Alzaga Unzué, wealthy Argentine sportsman, sailed for New York yesterday with the express purpose of arranging and financing the proposed bout.

It was stated in local circles that Unzué was prepared to guarantee Canzoneri $40,000 and all expenses if he agreed to come to Buenos Aires for a fight with the Argentine champion.

Wrestling May Take Place Of Boxing in New York

By Copeland C. Burg

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—A man writhed in death like pain on the floor, he twisted his limbs and beat his hands on his head, rolling and groaning as the sweat of tortured muscles bathed him. A huge beam of light beat down on his face, revealing pain-wracked eyes, twitching above a frock of frenzy over his lips.

A physician rushed to his side. The man threw his arms around the doctor's feet, bit at the medic's shoes then heaving a sigh like the passing of a great soul, collapsed utterly.

And did the crowd yell! How they cheered and beat each other's backs with hearty clouts. Hats went skimming about.

The stage? Tut, tut! Grand opera? Ha, Ha!

Just New York's latest sporting craze—the rassing game. The man who writhed so beautifully was Gino Baribaldi and it all happened last night at a prosaic enough armory up on 34th street. Gino had just been knocked out with a flying tackle or two from the robust shoulders of Jim

McMillen, former University of Illinois football player.

And was it good acting? Well one man said it was and the loyal fans threw him out under the third avenue "EL." Anyway, Gino had a perfect right to indulge himself a little with a few tears and a couple of ravings for he had lost a chance to meet Jim Landos, world's champion wrestler—at least in New York and Pennsylvania. In two weeks, McMillen, big boy from Gray's Lake, Ill., gets that shot.

Landos and Jack Curley, the promoter, will get the dough. And there will be plenty of dough. The last time the rasslers rocked the boards at Madison Square Garden they had to call out the police and fire departments to handle the mobs. About 20,000 squeezed in.

Wrestling has taken such a grip on New York it promises to eventually surpass boxing as a drawing sport. Already it has the fight promoters groaning for mercy and a lot of young men who might make good pugilists are trying to learn how to wrestle.

BIG TEN RACE BECOMES HOT

Three Teams Tied For First; Ohio State Loses Battle To Indiana.

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Three western conference basketball teams, Northwestern, Chicago and Minnesota, maintained unbeaten records in the big ten race today following four closely fought games last night.

Four aggregations, including Illinois, Purdue, Wisconsin and Ohio State, were spilled in last night's battles.

Michigan defeated Wisconsin, 23 to 17, at Ann Arbor to gain a place in the first division of the big ten standing. The Wolverines took the lead at the out set and kept it throughout the game.

Iowa was responsible for the biggest upset of the evening when the Hawkeye team defeated the championship—defending Purdue five by a 25 to 23 margin.

Purdue staged a rally in the closing minutes of the game which brought Iowa's ten point lead down to a single basket. The game was played at Iowa City, Ia.

Northwestern kept its record unmarked by whipping the Illinois five, 29 to 27, at Champaign, Ill. The second half rally of the Illini team brought the half time score of 19 to 4 up within one basket of a tie in the closing minutes, but Northwestern was able to stave off the attack and maintain a two point lead at the final gun.

Indiana hit its stride in the closing minutes of its second conference game at Bloomington, Ind., and defeated the Ohio State five by a 23 to 21 score. Until the last three minutes of play it appeared as though Ohio State would take its second victory of the conference season, but a shift in lineup revived the Hoosiers.

Man-Mountain Arrives at Local Time; May Take Part in Squabble.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Primo Carnera, the well known man, mountain, who is scheduled to plant his enormous dogs on the shores of these United States today, is returning at a psychological moment.

They do say that Willie Stripling, scheduled to sign today for his titular bout with Max Schmeling under the joint auspices of the Milk Fund and Madison Square Garden, will be asked by the garden to take on Primo three months after the fight, if he beats the German.

It is also said that the Georgia heavyweight, under the terms of the contract proffered him by the garden, must remain under the wing of the organization for two years if he wins the title, and will receive only 12 1-2 percent of the gate for his first fight as champion, if ever.

Late yesterday Bill Duffy, Carnera's America representative, conferred secretly with Pa Stripling, representatives of the Milk Fund and Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's manager. Stripling's failure to sign led to reports that he had balked at the garden's terms, but the consensus of opinion was that Pav was merely playing poker and would go through with the formality of signing today.

POWER CLASH IS FURNISHING PRELUDE TO 1932 CAMPAIGN

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES.
WASHINGTON. — President Hoover's dramatic clash with the Senate over the new federal power commission is regarded by the more thoughtful politicians in Washington as furnishing a prelude to the presidential campaign of 1932, which, in a broad sense, is not far away.

Ask any politician, of either party, in Washington today what the prime issues of that campaign will be and the answer invariably will be: "Prohibition and power." The order is sometimes reversed, but the answer is always the same.

The issue springs from the grass-roots. For there is scarcely a state but which has the question of power development and control before it in one way or another. There are, on the one hand, those who believe the vast natural and undeveloped power resources of the country should be owned and developed by state and federal agencies. As opposed to this school of thought, there is that which favors private ownership and control under public regulation. To this latter school, the very thought of public ownership and control is anathema.

President Hoover's political opponents, both in his own party and in the Democratic party, have sought to picture him as the friend and supporter of the so-called "power trust." The action of his newly appointed power commissioners in summarily "firing" two men who had consistently fought this so-called trust merely furnished the peg upon which to hang these charges.

More will be heard of this during the next year. It is likely that before another three months President Hoover will have an opportunity to either approve or veto the Norris bill, which will throw further light on the issue that many politicians consider is looming more and more important for 1932.

Like prohibition, the power issue divides both parties—and with almost equal intensity of feeling.

Western Republicans, as represented by the Progressive-Insurgents in Congress, are almost unanimous in their support of public power development and their antagonism to the so-called power trust. Eastern Republicans are preponderantly against public development.

Already there is appearing a distinct division in the Democratic party on the power issue.

There is a group of powerful Democratic leaders, mostly eastern, who favor the nomination of Owen D. Young in 1932. Young is chairman of the board of the Radio Corporation of America and a figure to be reckoned with in the world of finance and utilities.

Friends of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, are already up in arms over the movement in behalf of Young. Roosevelt has clashed spectacularly with the power interests of New York state, and is generally regarded as a champion of the anti-power trust forces.

QUICK RELIEF FOR COUGHING SPELLS

Famous Prescription Stops Them Almost Instantly

The amazing success of this prescription called Thoxine is due to its quick double action; it immediately soothes the irritation and goes direct to the internal cause not reached by ordinary medicines. The very first swallow usually stops even the most obstinate cough.

Thoxine is pleasant tasting and safe for the whole family. Your money will be refunded if it does not give better and quicker relief for coughs or sore throat than anything you have ever tried. Put ready for use in 35c, 60c and $1.00 bottles. Sold by Hamilton & Ryan Drug Co., and all other good drug stores.—Adv.

Mrs. Osie Heath of S. Washington-st., has received word that her son, Ralph E. Heath, has been promoted in the organization of the J. J. Newberry Co. He has been with the company for less than two years and last Friday was called into the New York offices and assigned the management of the Jasper, Ind., store with an increase in salary and a 10 percent bonus from the profits of the business at the end of the year.

He graduated from the Saltcreek-twp school with the class of 1928 and is a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hess, S. Washington st., this city, with whom he made his home. He left New York at once for his new position.

GANG'S GUN AGAIN BOOM

CHICAGO—James Belcastro, the fourth victim in as many days to fall before gang guns, hovered close to death today as police sought the identities of two assailants who emptied their revolvers into his body.

Belcastro, one of the 26 public enemies named by the Chicago crime commission and known to police as a Capone gangster, fell with six bullet wounds last night as he was about to step into his automobile.

The two gunmen were waiting for their victim when he stepped from the home of his brother-in-law, Rocco Fanelli. Fanelli likewise is a public enemy. The men opened fire as Belcastro was about to step into his automobile. Witnesses saw the gunmen flee on foot.

Even though surgeons at Bridewell Hospital told Belcastro he would not live he refused to name his assailants to police. Police were convinced that the gunmen had been lying in wait for their victim.

Belcastro was known to police as the "bombing king". He had been indicted for one bomb outrage, but managed to wriggle free of the law.

Thirty farmer groups will hold meetings at the Ohio State University during the nineteenth annual Farmer's Week, February 2 to 6. Visitors at the university at this time will have an opportunity to participate in discussions dealing with soil fertility, the improvement of livestock, better living in the home, feeding poultry for increased production, the care of farm machinery, the marketing of agricultural products and numerous other problems of interest to farmers.

FOUR WOMEN ARE KILLED

Although roads and streets were generally slippery and in some places were covered with ice following a drizzling rain the weekend traffic toll subsided somewhat, a state-wide survey conducted by International News Service shows.

Six persons, including four women, met death in four automobile crashes, all of them occurring in the southern part of the state.

Mrs. Anna Vedder, 55, and her daughter, Margaret, 31, were drowned when they were pinned beneath their automobile when it careened from the highway and overturned in the ditch near Mt. Healthy. The ditch was filled with water and both were dead when taken from the wreckage by Henry Vedder, the father and husband, and Clifford Schroder, 31, the other occupants of the car who escaped unhurt.

Mrs. George Morgan and Mrs. John Purdue, negroes, both of Chillicothe, were killed almost instantly when their auto overturned near Circleville after skidding into the ditch. Mrs. Morgan's husband, driver of the car, was slightly injured.

Robert Thurman, 40, of Sinking Springs, Adams-co., lost his balance while he was leaning out of his truck to see if it was on fire and fell beneath the wheels of the large vehicle. The rear wheels of the truck ran over his body, killing him instantly.

John C. Lentz, 52, of Columbus, died Monday several hours after he was dragged the length of a city block by an automobile. Scott Vessels, 48, driver of the car which struck Lentz, was held by police for questioning.

TEST SHOWS VALUE OF GOOD PASTURES

Permanent pastures may be made a rich source of valuable protein if a few simple practices are followed, according to soil extension specialists at the Ohio State University.

The average pasture, they point out, returns from 60 to 100 pounds of beef per acre. This at ten cents a pound equals $6 to $10 per acre less, taxes, fences, miscellaneous cost, and cost of wintering. Under such conditions the permanent pasture does little more than meet expenses.

However, tests in Ohio, Wisconsin, Vermont, and New Jersey, all show that with a small investment in improving pastures they may be made one of the most profitable pieces of land on the farm. In an Ohio test, 780 pounds of protein were produced on one acre of improved pasture, which is equivalent to $78 worth of dairy feed calculated on the basis of 24 per cent dairy feed at $48 per ton. In Wisconsin 749 pounds of protein valued at $74.90 per acre were produced in a series during Farmer's Week, February 2 to 6, at the university, the specialists state, and the results of scores of fertilizer trials on permanent pastures will be presented in addition to discussions on pasture improvement under Ohio conditions.

Some of the other talks scheduled by the soils department at the state institution for this first week in February deal with the kinds of fertilizers to use for various crops, ways of applying fertilizers for the largest possible returns, the new trends in fertilizers, fertilizers versus legume nitrogen in general farming, fertilizer nitrogen for corn and wheat, fertilizing clover, and other fertilizer problems.

Speakers for the soils program during this farm classic to be held at the State university on February 2 to 6, include: C. E. Miller, department of soils, Michigan State College; W. H. Ross, bureau of soils and chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture; Robert M. Salter, chairman of the department of soils Ohio State University; C. G. Williams director of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station; and E. P. Reed, Earl Jones, and D. R. Dodd, extension specialists in soils and crops at the Ohio State University.

LIQUOR SQUADS TO BE REDUCED

CANTON, O.—Abandonment of the city's vice and liquor squads in order to add more men to the under-manned police patrol department will be proposed by Councilman James Secombe at a meeting of city council here tonight.

Secombe, a dry advocate, declares that the seven policemen now serving on the vice and liquor squads could "better serve the interests of the public if their efforts are placed toward saving lives and property."

"This does not necessarily mean a lessening of liquor law enforcement," the council member said. "Each patrolman would be personally responsible for conditions on his beat and, in case of necessity, a raiding squad could be formed."

HANGING CAUSES INDIAN DISORDER

LONDON, Jan. 12—Enraged at the hanging of four Indian nationalists found guilty of taking part in disorders recently at Sholapur, rioters in Bombay today forced a number of policemen sent to quell the disturbance to remove their helmets as a "mark of respect for the hanged men," reports to the evening newspapers stated.

The police commissioner's automobile was stoned, and boulders were placed on the street car tracks.

MAGISTRATE MAY RESIGN

NEW YORK—Tammany leaders in the Bronx are urging magistrate Jesse Silbermann, the latest to be under fire in the Kresel-Seabury inquiry, to turn in his resignation, it was reported today.

Another unconfirmed report was that the leaders had held a meeting last night and had decided that, regardless of whether Silbermann is being attacked justly or unjustly, his resignation would tend to eliminate further accusations in his case.

Meanwhile, Referee Samuel Seabury was to ask today for blanket writ of habeas corpus to effect the release of 51 wayward minors illegally committed to Bedford reformatory. His request was to be made following a conference with attaches of the attorney-general's office.

Although Silbermann's resignation is generally expected as the result of his grilling at the public hearing yesterday, it was pointed out that he had defied the investigators and, if the matter were left entirely in his hands, might elect to fight it out, as has Magistrate Louis B. Brodsky.

LUCKIES are always kind to your throat

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why the "TOASTING" process includes the use of the Ultra Violet Rays. LUCKY STRIKE—the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED."
Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING"—that extra, secret process—removes harmful irritants that cause throat irritation and coughing.

The advice of your physician is:
Keep out of doors, in the open air, breathe deeply, take plenty of exercise in the mellow sunshine, and have a periodic check-up on the health of your body.

Where's the FIRE?

YEARS ago you wished it might be the school house. Now you are grateful if it is not your home or business. The menace of fire is ever present. It hides in unsuspected places and suddenly roars forth to destroy. You should be prepared for it with adequate insurance . . . Insurance will protect you against loss by fire.

The agents of the Ohio Farmers Insurance Company offer a new insurance service to all property owners. They will furnish without cost, a record of your property and an insurance program that completely protects that property. Let an Ohio Farmers Agent chart your insurance . . . it shows what you have and what you need.

OUTSTANDING EDUCATORS PICK BEST ARTICLES ON EDUCATION

America's leading specialists in education will select the most important articles published in their respective fields for the Office of Education's "Record of Current Educational Publications," according to an announcement made today by Wm. John Cooper, United States Commissioner of Education. For 18 years the "Record" of the most important articles in 79 different phases of education has been prepared in entirety every three months by the library division of the Office of Education. Now the 79 phases of education covered have been divided into 14 major groups. An outstanding specialist in each of the 14 fields has been invited to submit quarterly a list of the notable articles in his particular field appearing in educational magazines, important books, reports, proceedings, and first selections for the quarter, October to January, is expected from the press in February.

The educators who have offered to help the Office of Education make the "Record of Current Educational Publications" a highly selected list of best thought in the educational press, and the sections on which they will report are: Dr. Arthur J. Klein, Professor of School Administration, Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, who will submit articles published in the field of COLLEGIATE and PROFESSIONAL EDUCATION; Dr. W. C. Ellis, Associate Professor of Education, Leland Stanford Junior University, Stanford University, California; JUNIOR COLLEGE; Dr. L. V. Koss, Professor of Secondary Education, University of Chicago, Chicago, Illinois; SECONDARY EDUCATION; Dr. Ernest Horn, Professor of Elementary Education, State University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa; ELEMENTARY EDUCATION; Miss Edna Dean Baker, President National College of Education, Evanston, Ill.; NURSERY-KINDERGARTEN - PRIMARY EDUCATION; Dr. Carter Alexander, Professor of Education, Teachers College, Columbia University, New York, N. Y.; PUBLIC SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION; Dean M. E. Haggerty, School of Education, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn.; EDUCATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY; Dr. E. S. Evenden, Teachers College, Columbia University, New York, N. Y.; TEACHER-TRAINING; Edwin Lee, Director Division of Vocational Education, University of California, Berkeley, California; VOCATIONAL EDUCATION; Alonzo G. Grace, Assistant Director Division of Extension Teaching, University of Rochester, Rochester, N. Y.; ADULT EDUCATION; Miss Elise Martens, Specialist in the Education of Exceptional Children, Office of Education, Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C.; EDUCATION OF EXCEPTIONAL CHILDREN; Dr. James F. Abel, Chief Division of Foreign School Systems, Office of Education, Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C.; FOREIGN EDUCATION; Dr. Ambrose

Calver, Specialist in Negro Education, Office of Education, Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C.; EDUCATION OF NEGROES; and Miss Martha McCabe, Assistant Librarian, Office of Education, Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C. PROCEEDINGS, SUMMARIES, COURSES, ETC.

In adopting this method of collecting data for the Record of Current Educational Publications, the Office of Education expects to produce a list of writings covering completely and qualitatively every branch of education.

CRIME RING TO BE INVESTIGATED

NEW YORK—Existence of a "crime ring" as well as a "vice ring" in the magistrates' courts was being investigated by attorney Isador Kresel, prosecutor in the appellate divisions inquiry, today. While agents of the "vice ring" were engaged in "framing" and "railroading" innocent women and young girls to jail, it was charged agents of the "crime ring" were equally busy—getting known gangsters, gunmen and other criminals out of prison. The "crime ring" was for weeks been the subject of intensive undercover inquiry by Kresel's investigators, it was understood. Today, Kresel himself was to question a man, brought especially to his office from the Tombs. This man, it was stated, would be Herman Rothenberg, according to the police at one time head of the notorious "Rothenberg gang" of silk thieves, whose record shows 11 arrests and 3 convictions, and a list of 27 post-ponements on an indictment in 1925.

A Good Show

DOTERS on the picturesque and bombastic, who have been lamenting the passing of the old muckraking, days in politics and journalism, must have had visions of living them all over again during the last fortnight. Unless their appetites are insatiable they have just had their fill with the compliments of the best living past masters at the art.

Washington was the arena. Congressmen, party executives and bloc leaders manned the rakes. The world looked on in amused amazement.

The general raking up uncovered such rare morsels of muck as "growing cancer," that, to politicians, maddening epithet, "demagog," "Malignant wart," "political thugger," "unmitigated liar," "superheated hot air," "consummate demagog," "wolf in sheep's clothing," "cowardly," "underhanded," "disreputable."

It was a free-for-all orgy of muckraking which compared favorably with the regular diet of congress back in the rough-and-ready days when no one hewed to the line and the unpurged epithets fell everywhere.

These verbal eruptions accomplish nothing of value, nor do they work any worse harm than a slight raising of the blood pressure, yet the spectators enjoy a good show now and then and congress never puts on a better one than when members was indignant and engage in a name-calling contest. On these rare occasions the public sees its representatives as their true selves either for better or worse.

Inspiration In the Stars

ONE of the disadvantages of cities is that they barman from the wonders of the heavens. City smoke and city lights separate the world below from the brilliant canopy above the double curtain. They keep the children of the city in darkness as regards the science and beauties of the stars.

No country lad, stepping out of doors on clear and frosty nights can miss the knowledge of other worlds. City youths are fortunate, for nothing forces them to look higher than the lanterns of the skyscrapers. Perhaps there are compensations. Inspiration is a fickle jade, bestowing favors by no rule or vote. But it is no small damage that city folk lose the nocturnal companionship of the stars.

Can it be entirely accident that the birthplaces of the world's great ideas have been so largely spots where the skies are clear and the constellation brilliant? Would those somber, glorious figures of the Hebrew prophets have held the world's thoughts for nearly 30 centuries so largely in their fingers of the high hills of Palestine had been forever overcast with clouds?

Astronomy is one of the most absorbing subjects available to the initiated, but one of the least studied, and, therefore, least revealed to the general public. Few communists, even those large enough to be dignified with the designation of "city," can boast of more than one well-informed amateur astronomer. As for the rest of their inhabitants, their knowledge is limited to "dippers" and two or three of the brighter planets.

Juries

NO one who has attended an important trial could fail to be impressed with the difficulty in obtaining competent juries. Almost every citizen who has his living to make, and for whom jury service means some financial sacrifice, will evade jury duty when he or she can.

Detained for service in a prolonged trial, the juror may be obliged to remain away from his business for a week or more at a time. If he is a wage earner, whose income stops when work stops, this means a still greater hardship.

Persons too poor or too uninformed to obtain exemption have no escape from service, while another class better qualified to render service, usually manages to escape from service, while another class better qualified to render service, usually manages to escape, at least after the novelty wears off with one court's service.

Better jurors would provide some security against short or long weight by the scale, of justice, of which there is, by common consent, too much. Only the exper-

CHAPTER XLVII.
HE stepped into a small, bright room to one side of the front hall and seated himself on the divan.

On the card he had written "Concerning Cyril Underhill."

Cecile appeared in a remarkable short space of time. His first glance told him that she was annoyed and alarmed, both qualities which she tried to hide under a mask of false sweetness.

She wore a dress of black chiffon, lavishly printed with flaring red and green orchid flowers. The effect of this was to heighten the dead white of her face and throat and turn her eyes to ice-green. Her long, taffy-colored hair was combed sleekly back and wound into a French twist. Her lips were the usual startling and unconvincing red.

To Tom she was more astonishingly artificial than ever, reminding him of the featureless and futuristic clothing models he had noticed in the large shops downtown.

Cecile sank bonelessly upon the divan beside him.

"You have made me so curious with your inscription about Mr. Underhill," she smiled. "Please do relieve my burning curiosity."

Tom did not return her flashing smile. "I regret that I had to use his name. But it was necessary that I see you."

She made large eyes at him. "But, Mr. Corbett, it is a pleasure!"

The Showdown.

Tom took up the burden, very red in the face. "No, this is not going to be a pleasure for either one of us," he said desperately. "And we'll make it easier for ourselves if we drop all pretense of friendliness and act naturally. I must be frank. Brutally frank. I am going to speak of very personal matters and of course you are not going to like it."

Cecile's eyes had narrowed as she spoke and they were like the watchful, half-closed eyes of a cat.

"Well?"

"Well—you know that I am an old friend of Ken. Ever since we went to college we've been thick."

"Not so thick lately, I believe."

"No," Tom's eyes narrowed now. "I see we understand each other. But notwithstanding, I am here on Ken's behalf now. I am asking that you give him a divorce."

Cecile's eyes glinted. "A most peculiar request for a man to make even for such a dear friend."

"Perhaps. But when you see fate—or chance, rather—has placed some very peculiar weapons in my hands."

"Such as—"

"Did you have a pleasant trip

lenced, intelligent, broad-minded, sophisticated, discerning and penetrating can even approximately balance those all-important scales.

Reasonably higher jury fees would not recompense a high-paid executive or professional man for the loss of his time, but some degree of sacrifice is expected, and it would be far more effective in making an end of jury-dodging than the present system which has existed for many years.

Perhaps they keep on making new laws because the old ones are broken.

when you went South last time?"

Tom was sweating profusely. The role of a subtle villain was not in his line but he held himself doggedly to it.

The blood drained away from the woman's face until her lips stood out startlingly from the background. "Why do you ask that?"

"Because Mr. Underhill has a very intelligent Chinese servant, named Leo, whom I imagine he is shortly going to discharge and whom I shall arrange to take into my sister's home. Luckily Carolyn needs a cook."

For a moment she looked at him speechless and there was murder in her eyes. She moistened her lips. "The word of a servant?"

Tom shook his head regretfully. "Ah, but people are so willing to believe the worst!" And in his mind he was thinking, "This woman dreads me!"

"So..." Cecile swallowed and he could see the convulsive movement of her long throat. "It is blackmail..."

"Oh, surely not that!" he said gently. "Let us say that I would not like to see the wife of my friend—misjudged—on the word of a Chinese servant. For my own part, I am discretion itself if I think the other party is willing to do the right thing."

"You can't bully me into your schemes!" Cecile was beginning violently when she became cautious. She was suddenly badly frightened.

"Tom, someone has been lying about me—viciously lying."

She stopped at the sight of his hardening face. She sank down again on the divan and covered her face with her long white hands. Her muffled voice sounded.

"Oh—this is ghastly! My God..."

RESISTED HOLDUP MAN IS WOUNDED

CHICAGO.—Two bandits shot William L. Just, 32, through the right leg in an attempted holdup on Chicago's "Gold Coast." The wounded man is the son of Frank Just, newspaper publisher of Waukegan, Ill.

Just was sitting in a sedan with two young women when they were accosted by the bandit pair. When Just resisted the gunmen one opened fire, shooting the young man through the leg, fracturing the knee. The men fled without obtaining any loot.

The two women who witnessed the shooting were Mrs. Virginia Dickinson, 28, and Just's sister, Mary.

HAVANNA.—Destruction of millions of pounds of sugar cane by flames has caused military authorities to take action against this alleged arson, charged against those anxious to limit sugar output and to discredit the administration of President Machado. Sugar cane grinding seasons opens next week.

Don't End Pursuit of Health in the Winter

—Love of Out-Doors Forgotten in Cold Weather

Why, Asks Dr. Copeland, Do Most of Us Forget the Benefits of Sunlight and Fresh Air When Winter Comes?—Don't Become a "Shut-In."

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

IT IS a pleasure to find on sale today an occasional book that goes right to the heart. My friend Harry Hershfield has just published his "Super City," a brilliant novel, a gripping tale of human interest. But more than this, the book is rich in philosophical comment.

In my reading I lingered over a trifling incident, unimportant to the plot, but it contains a hint worth observing. Three friends had just finished a heavy lunch. In spite of good October weather, balmy and bright, they lolled in their chairs with the club windows tightly closed.

The author commented: "It is surprising how rich men, who engage in the expensive outdoor sports of golfing, polo and tennis, take advantage of unhealthy, smug comfort whenever they can."

It is, indeed, surprising that men who profess to love the out-of-doors will submit to the vile air found in many of their indoor haunts. Clubs offices, lodge rooms, even dining rooms, are frequently stifling. The atmosphere is polluted and the simplest hygienic rules of right living are utterly disregarded. Why is it? If golf is a pose and other outdoor sports are merely games to please grown-up boys, let us confess the truth. But, if we indulge in these let us not end our health pursuit when we go indoors. Let us see to it that the inside places are decent places in which to live.

Persons who are undernourished have thin blood. The circulation is poor, and even slight exposure may bring a chill. Nothing overcomes this sensitiveness as quickly as proper feeding and habitual exposure of the skin to sunlight.

If your duties are such that during the winter season you are denied the advantages of regular exercise out-of-doors, there must be found a substitute for sunlight. In this connection, talk with your doctor about the exposure to their rays will do almost as much good as several hours in the sunshine. They will build up in your skin a resistance to heat and cold.

Try to make this an exceptional winter. Give the same thought to your indoor living that you give to your expensive outdoor sports. There can be no doubt that the average individual declines in vigor during the cold weather. This is not necessary if thought is given to the problem. You can govern your life if you will, so that Springtime will find you fit and fine.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK by Edson R. Waite, Shawnee, Okla.

THAT if you want to keep your mail order competition, ADVISE TISE?

Continuous advertising will make your merchandise stand out in such an attractive manner that it will bring buyers your way.

Attractive advertising is the link between you and the public; it is the means of making the necessary sales contact.

The amount of business you do is up to you. Quality, well advertised, means better business.

A good front page goes a long way towards attracting attention to a business.

Business concerns should make their fronts attractive, as well as the interior.

IF YOU WANT TO KEEP SHELF-WARMERS MOVING OUT, ADVERTISING IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY.

BRUSSELS.—A Brussels newspaper stated today that government notables would soon go to Italy to present a magnificent counterpane to Princess Mari-Jose, wife of the Italian Crown Prince, who is expecting an heir. The counterpane will be the gift of the Belgian people.

THE EXTRA LOAD ON YOUR TAX BILL

Besides paying regular taxes in common with other industries, Stock Fire Insurance companies pay about 30 million dollars a year in special taxes in the various states.

These taxes are in reality borne by insurance buyers. They necessarily must be figured in the cost of insurance.

The original purpose of taxes on premiums was to maintain state supervision over the insurance companies. But such supervision requires only a few cents of each dollar paid in. The balance goes into the general state funds.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States does not think this is right, and has so stated

"... Special state taxes now levied on policyholders through insurance companies should not be considered as a source of general revenue, but should be reduced to the total in each state which will adequately support such state's departmental supervision..."

OUTSTANDING EDUCATORS PICK BEST ARTICLES ON EDUCATION

America's leading specialists in education will select the most important articles published in their respective fields for the Office of Education's "Record of Current Educational Publications," according to an announcement made today by Wm. John Cooper, United States Commissioner of Education.

For 18 years the "Record" of the most important articles in 79 different phases of education has been prepared in entirety every three months by the library division of the Office of Education. Now the 79 phases of education covered have been divided into 14 major groups. An outstanding specialist in each of the 14 fields has been invited to submit quarterly a list of the notable articles in his particular field appearing in educational magazines, important books, reports, proceedings, and first selections for the quarter, October to January, is expected from the press in February.

The educators who have offered to help the Office of Education make the "Record of Current Educational Publications" a highly selected list of best thought in the educational press, and the sections on which they will report are: Dr. Arthur J. Klein, Professor of School Administration, Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, who will submit articles published in the field of COLLEGIATE and PROFESSIONAL EDUCATION; Dr. W. C. Eells, Associate Professor of Education, Leland Stanford Junior University, Stanford University, California; JUNIOR COLLEGE; Dr. L. V. Koos, Professor of Secondary Education, University of Chicago, Chicago, Illinois; SECONDARY EDUCATION; Dr. Ernest Horn, Professor of Elementary Education, State University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa; ELEMENTARY EDUCATION; Miss Edna Dean Baker, President National College of Education, Evanston, Ill.; NURSERY-KINDERGARTEN - PRIMARY EDUCATION; Dr. Carter Alexander, Professor of Education, Teachers College, Columbia University, New York, N. Y.; PUBLIC SCHOOL ADMINISTRATION; Dean M. E. Haggerty, School of Education, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, Minn.; EDUCATIONAL PSYCHOLOGY; Dr. E. S. Evenden, Teachers College, Columbia University, New York, N. Y.; TEACHER-TRAINING; Edwin Lee, Director Division of Vocational Education, University of California, Berkeley, California; VOCATIONAL EDUCATION; Alonzo G. Grace, Assistant Director Division of Extension Teaching, University of Rochester, Rochester, N. Y.; ADULT EDUCATION; Miss Elise Martens, Specialist in the Education of Exceptional Children, Office of Education, Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C.; FOREIGN EDUCATION; Dr. Ambrose

Caliver, Specialist in Negro Education, Office of Education, Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C.; EDUCATION OF NEGROES; and Miss Martha McCabe, Assistant Librarian, Office of Education, Department of the Interior, Washington, D. C. PROCEEDINGS, SUMMARIES, COURSES, ETC.

In adopting this method of collecting data for the Record of Current Educational Publications, the Office of Education expects to produce a list of writings covering completely and qualitatively every branch of education.

CRIME RING TO BE INVESTIGATED

NEW YORK—Existence of a "crime ring" as well as a "vice ring" in the magistrates' courts was being investigated by attorney Isador Kresel, prosecutor in the appellate divisions inquiry, today.

While agents of the "vice ring" were engaged in "framing" and "railroading" innocent women and young girls to jail, it was charged agents of the "crime ring" were equally busy—getting known gangsters, gunmen and other criminals out of prison.

The "crime ring" was for weeks been the subject of intensive undercover inquiry by Kresel's investigators, it was understood.

Today, Kresel himself was to question a man, brought especially to his office from the Tombs,

This man, it was stated, would be Herman Rothenberg, according to the police at one time head of the notorious "Rothenberg gang" of silk thieves, whose record shows 11 arrests and 3 convictions, and a list of 27 post-ponements on an indictment in 1925.

VIL. 3. No. 2 Tuesday, January 13, 1931

IF, NOT, WHY NOT?
If our memory serves us correctly, there are about 250 business and professional houses and offices in Circleville at the present time. You wouldn't think it, would you? Alright, look over the classified lists in the rear of the telephone directory.

The local Chamber of Commerce is the only association in this city where the business and professional interests can unite and work for the betterment of the community. One would think that if a community was good enough to support a business, that the owners of the business would be willing enough to lend a willing hand to support an organization that is trying to do something for the community.

Of all the businesses and professions of this community, about 165 of them are willing to sit back and watch about 85 others do what they can to build up Circleville and community. And about 60 of the 85 are as willing to let the remaining 25 do the actual work. So, out of a business and professional population of about 250 in Circleville, about 25 are actually working for the betterment of the community, while 60 more are willing to do what they can in a financial way (which is greatly appreciated). But we are sorry to say that 165, or thereabouts, are willing to sit back and benefit by the results of the other 85.

If you happen to belong to the largest class, we'd suggest that you get busy at once and send your check for $12.50 to the Chamber of Commerce. That amount will pay your dues for one year and you'll be helping in a financial way. Better yet, join the smallest group by lending your physical, mental, and financial aid to this movement. Help your town—it has helped you.

Tom Gilliland, of the Circleville Lumber Co., has just taken office as President of the Chamber for this year. Let's all put our shoulder to the wheel and help Tom make Circleville bigger and better.

How about your mattresses? Do you have slip covers on them? They are awfully nice to use as they keep the soil from the ticking. They can be easily removed and laundered. $1.50 and $2.50.

Speaking of mattresses reminds us that you can now own a SLUMBERON inner-spring mattress of the highest type, for the small sum of $43.50. This is the new low price just announced. It is a reduction of $6 from the old price. If you are looking for a real sleep inducer, be sure to see this mattress.

Mrs. Brown: "So, your husband was lost at sea?"
Mrs. Green: "Yes. A bathing beauty got him."

(This story is published with the consent of the copyright owner, R. D. Choate, editor of the Pickaway County News, Ashville, O.)
Mr. Choate, before coming down to Ashville, was a resident of Toledo. As soon as he and Mrs. Choate knew that they were going to make this move, they looked around the furniture stores of Toledo. After their arrival in Ashville, they also looked around the stores in Columbus, getting prices and ideas. Did they buy their furniture in either of those large cities? Not by a jugful.

Mr. and Mrs. Choate (and by the way they have two sweet youngsters—twins) found they could buy at quite a saving right here at home. Quite a large purchase was made right here in this store and, so Mr. Choate informed H. G., they saved quite a bit of money by doing so. And were they satisfied? Just ask them. The moral of this story is—Buy at Stevenson's and save money.

(Heard in G. J. Lampl's room, Jackson-twp schools):
Prof. Lampl—"Name a poisonous substance."
Nelson Walters—"Aviation."
The Prof.—"Explain yourself."
The Student—"One drop will kill."

A man came into our store last week and asked to see the man that writes the "funny sheet" for The Herald. Since we do not know what he meant by that remark, we'll not comment on it. However, he is a reader of RTT, and that is the important thing. He had been reading about PYRO-FAX GAS and Heatroids and wanted to know more about them. That's the important thing to us.

A lady from north-west of town called at our store Saturday and purchased a large Sellers green enameled kitchen cabinet. It seems that her mother gave her some money for Christmas so she spent it for something that would make her kitchen work a little easier. And the Sellers can save steps. If you don't believe it, just drop into our store and let us show you how one can save your "dogs."

PAY TRIBUTE TO

MRS. J. G. STEELE

High tribute is paid to Mrs. James G. Steele, sister-in-law of Mrs. Florence Steele, S. Scioto-st., who passed away at her residence in Chillicothe Sunday morning.

Following is a clipping from the Chillicothe Scioto Gazette:

With the passing of Mrs. James G. Steele at her residence, 210 Caldwell street Sunday morning at 1:30 o'clock, Chillicothe and Ross county loses a woman of rare personality, and finest type of citizenship. She died with pneumonia following a two days illness. Mrs. Steele is a descendant of the pioneer stock, which made Ross county the substantial community, which it now is. Her grandfather, Louis Igo, was the first white resident of the community near Bourneville, where she lived.

Mrs. Steele, the daughter of William and Julia Ann McKenzie Igo, was born at the home place, near Bourneville, May 2, 1852, where she lived until her marriage to James G. Steele, when she moved into the Steele homestead near Bourneville, and resided until the death of Mr. Steele 18 years ago, since which time she has been a resident of this city.

She was educated at the Woman's Seminary at Hillsboro, and was a woman of marked musical and artistic taste. She was a member of the Presbyterian church and of the Missionary Society of the church for fifty years, and was always active in the work of the church.

Surviving to mourn her loss are seven children, three having gone on before. They are William J. and Albert Steele, and Mrs. J. D. Withgott of this city, G. M. and Edward of Twin township, Mrs. George Armstrong, of Ranger Texas, and Margaret Steele of Columbus, and one sister, Mrs. Patience Metcalfe of this city, seventeen grandchildren and one great grand child.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, Rev. P. B. Ferris officiating. Interment was in Moore's cemetery in Twin Township.

RADIO SALES IN 1930 TOTAL

500 MILLIONS, REPORT SHOWS

By ROBERT S. THORNBURG

WASHINGTON—Retail sales of radio sets and equipment probably exceeded $500,000,000 during 1930 in spite of the business depression, Bond Geddes, executive head of the radio manufacturers association said today.

This was a sharp reduction from the $835,000,000 value of the sale of radio products in 1929, but manufacturers during the year materially reduced their excessive inventories and are prepared to go into the new year with most sections of the industry in fairly favorable positions.

In January, 1930, there were very large stocks of radio sets on hand. The result was a series of bargain sales during the year at which receivers were disposed of at greatly cut prices. It was not anticipated there would be much of the bargain stuff this year.

About 4,000,000 radio sets were sold during 1929. Figures are not yet available for 1930, but sales fell below the 1929 valuation. A development of the year was the large number of so-called midgelet sets produced which may bring the actual number to about that of the year before.

It is anticipated that during 1931 there may be a considerable production of superheterodyne radio receivers the radio corporation of America having sometime ago released on a royalty basis the right to build sets with this particular hookup.

To some extent the radio industry is getting away from the seasonal characteristics of plant operation. The peak of employment in the radio plants has been during July and August, as the manufacturers prepare their stocks for the winter demand for sets. There are some disadvantages of this seasonal tendency owing to the difficulty in retaining trained labor.

During the past year there has been a tendency on the part of some manufacturers to bring out "fift" new model sets at various times rather than just before the big demand with the annual recurrence of good radio reception in mid-autumn.

After a short business session a reading was given by Miss Irma Leist. The program consisted of Reminiscence of the past given by different members. A group including Mrs. James Moffit, Miss Ellen Leist, Mrs. W. E. Fitzpatrick, Miss Grace Bower, Miss Bernice Buskirk, Mrs. James Carpenter, and Miss Mildred Barthelmas accompanied by Miss Mary Heffner sang several of songs, "There's a Long Long Trail a-Winding" and "Beau Dieu".

Another group of songs was sung taken from the minstrel that was presented by the society some time ago. Mrs. Moffit and Miss Leist had solo parts in this group.

During the social hour lunch was served by the January committee composed of Mrs. Karl Herrmann, chairman; Mrs. Clarence Alter, Miss Mildred Barthelmas, Mrs. James Davidson, Mrs. Mary Beck, Mrs. Freda Goeller, and Mrs. Harry Dresbach.

TO HELP BOAT

NEW YORK—The trawler White Cap is standing by the disabled four-masted schooner James E. Scotia, radio advice here said today. The schooner was reported in distress with its rudder gone. The coast guard boat Kendenhead, 50 miles away, was ordered to aid the disabled ship. The schooner is enroute to New York from the British West Indies.

PAY TRIBUTE TO MRS. J. G. STEELE

High tribute is paid to Mrs. James G. Steele, sister-in-law of Mrs. Florence Steele, S. Scioto-st., who passed away at her residence in Chillicothe Sunday morning.

Following is a clipping from the Chillicothe Scioto Gazette:

With the passing of Mrs. James G. Steele at her residence, 210 Caldwell street Sunday morning at 1:30 o'clock, Chillicothe and Ross county loses a woman of rare personality, and finest type of citizenship. She died with pneumonia following a two days illness. Mrs. Steele is a descendant of the pioneer stock, which made Ross county the substantial community, which it now is. Her grandfather, Louis Igo, was the first white resident of the community near Bourneville, where he lived.

Mrs. Steele, the daughter of William and Julia Ann McKenzie Igo, was born at the home place, near Bourneville, May 2, 1852, where she lived until her marriage to James G. Steele, when she moved into the Steele homestead near Bourneville, and resided until the death of Mr. Steele 18 years ago, since which time she has been a resident of this city.

She was educated at the Woman's Seminary at Hillsboro, and was a woman of marked musical and artistic taste. She was a member of the Presbyterian church and of the Missionary Society of the church for fifty years, and was always active in the work of the church.

Surviving to mourn her loss are seven children, three having gone on before. They are William J., and Albert Steele, and Mrs. J. D. Withgott of this city, C. M. and Edward of Twin township, Mrs. George Armstrong, of Ranger Texas, and Margaret Steele of Columbus, and one sister, Mrs. Patience Metcalfe of this city, seventeen grandchildren and one great grand child.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, Rev. P. B. Ferris officiating. Interment was in Moore's cemetery in Twin Township.

Theatres

AT THE GRAND

With Betty Compton starring in "Behind the Lines," in the feature picture, and the Varieties of 1931 being presented in a three unit performance, the Grand theatre is offering a real attraction tonight.

Baby Crider, little star of Hollywood, who sings and dances; Ben Harney and Miss Haynes in a ragtime frolic, Happy Hal Crider and Miss Spinner in a lesson of acrobatic foolology make up the array of stars the stage play is presenting.

AT THE CLIFTONA

O'Brien's orchestra is one of the feature stage attraction to ever be booked in Circleville. It appears at the Cliftona theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

Unlike the average jazz band which opens its act with a lot of noise, the O'Briens present their act in an entirely different manner. With a beautiful drop curtain still in place the act opens with harmony, soft and brilliant.

CORN REPLACES WHEAT ON MART

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—Interest in the wheat market situation here heightened today when the board of trade substituted corn for wheat in the premier trading pit on the exchange, a position wheat had occupied for 84 years.

Despite gathering strength in the stabilization futures of wheat during the past week of grain trading the bulk of trading interest has been shifted to corn. Today's market was open with the wheat trading in the corn pit and vice versa, a move which brought the watchful eye of speculators to the wheat situation.

After holding the premier position for the past 84 years wheat henceforth will occupy second position to corn, it was announced.

The trade is being kept guessing regarding the wheat situation created by operations of the federal farm board and the grain futures administration. These factors have combined to bring about an almost unprecedented situation, traders reported.

PANAMA CITY—A new annual holiday may soon be added to the calendar of the Republic of Panama. Efforts are under way to commemorate annually the quick success and comparative bloodlessness of the revolt of Jan. 2, which brought a new government into power.

RADIO SALES IN 1930 TOTAL 500 MILLIONS, REPORT SHOWS

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH

WASHINGTON—Retail sales of radio sets and equipment probably exceeded $500,000,000 during 1930 in spite of the business depression, Bond Geddes, executive head of the radio manufacturers association said today.

This was a sharp reduction from the $835,000,000 value of the sale of radio products in 1929, but manufacturers during the year materially reduced their excessive inventories and are prepared to go into the new year with most sections of the industry in fairly favorable positions.

In January, 1930, there were very large stocks of radio sets on hands. The result was a series of bargain sales during the year at which receivers were disposed of at greatly cut prices. It was not anticipated there would be much of the bargain stuff this year.

About 4,000,000 radio sets were sold during 1929. Figures are not yet available for 1930, but sales fell below the 1929 valuation. A development of the year was the large number of so-called midget sets produced which may bring the actual number to about that of the year before.

It is anticipated that during 1931 there may be a considerable production of superheterodyne radio receivers the radio corporation of America having sometime ago released on a royalty basis the right to build sets with this particular hookup.

To some extent the radio industry is getting away from the seasonal characteristics of plant operation. The peak of employment in the radio plants has been during July and August, as the manufacturers prepare their stocks for the winter demand for sets. There are some disadvantages of this seasonal tendency owing to the difficulty in retaining trained labor.

During the past year there has been a tendency on the part of some manufacturers to bring out their new model sets at various times rather than just before the big demand with the annual recurrence of good radio reception in mid-autumn.

LAVA FLOWING TOWARD VILLAGE

LONDON.—A redhot stream of lava was flowing in the direction of the communities of Srosmboeng and Boetoen on the island of Sumatra today as violent eruptions again shook Merapi volcano, according to central news reports from Amsterdam.

The crater's renewed activity whose sudden outburst after a dormant period of eight decades recently caused hundreds of deaths and destruction of numerous villages. No casualties were reported in the new outbreak.

Almost every country is a free country for the discreet orthodox.

CHICAGO POLICE GUARD INTERESTS

CHICAGO—Picked squads of police detectives today continued a 36 hour watch over a south side government warehouse here today to prevent culmination of a reported gang plot to plunder the building of $1,000,000 worth of stored liquor.

Prohibition records of all liquor cases against the Al Capone and "Bugs" Moran gangs are stored in the warehouse.

The detectives were hurried to the warehouse early Sunday and were given rations and blankets for the long watch. They were not told where they were being taken nor were they allowed to communicate with their families.

Orders were issued to "shoot to kill."

BANK OUTLINES '31 PROGRAM

NEW YORK — A constructive program for business revival in 1931 was outlined today by Albert H. Wiggin, chairman of the governing board of the Chase National Bank in his annual report to stockholders today.

Wiggin, head of the world's largest banking institution, which had record resources of $2,697,328,855 at the end of 1930, in his recommendations favors:

(1) Modification of the capital gains tax from 12½ per cent to not more than 7½ per cent and application of the entire proceeds of this revenue to a reduction of the public debt;

(2) That the United States government initiate a reduction in the inter-Alleied debts at this time because its importance is far greater than the dollar magnitude of the debts involved;

(3) Abolition of price fixing and a policy of keeping the markets open and prices free;

(4) Opposition to federal legislation that would force the country's large banks into a competitive struggle for supremacy, and

(5) Moderate reduction of wages to reduce costs and to increase both employment and the buying power of labor.

In discussing the stock market Wiggin said: "I do not know whether we shall see lower prices in the stock market or not, but I do know that there are many securities, both stocks and bonds, which are now selling for less than they will be worth in normal times and at prices which should prove attractive to the investor."

He expressed confidence in the business situation and predicted that conditions at the end of 1931 will be a good deal better than they were at the end of 1930.

DAIRY MEET TO STRESS INCOME

Ways of boosting milk pail profits will be in the limelight when the dairy production program opens during Farmers' Week, Feb. 2 to 6, at the Ohio State University.

New calf feeding facts, true economy in protein feeding, practices making for better milk production, and lessons from eastern breeding herds, are only a few of the scores of talks of interests to Ohio dairymen scheduled for this week in February.

Another series of talks of practical application will be presented by J. C. McDowell of the Bureau of Animal Husbandry, United States Department of Agriculture, when he discusses testing cows for economical production, proving bulls, and cows that make the farmer's income climb.

The dairy production program in which thousands of visitors will participate also includes two dairy cattle judging contests, a number of talks on herd improvement, a livestock parade, a special banquet for dairymen, and a banquet for herd improvement association testers.

Annual meetings will be held during Farmer's Week by the Ohio Holstein Breeders' Association, Ohio Jersey Cattle Club, Ohio Brown Swiss Breeders' Association, Ohio Ayrshire Breeders' Association, Ohio Guernsey Breeders' Association, and the Ohio Dairymen's Association.
